

Rashad Roberts Bio

Greetings! My name is Ms. Rashad Roberts and I have been a Maureen Joy Charter School parent for the last four years. I graduated from Grand Canyon University in Phoenix, Arizona, the School of Education, with a Masters in Early Childhood Education. I have two beautiful daughters Ashanti who is 14 years old who attends Hillside New Tech and Kai, 7 years old who attends Maureen Joy and one son, Braeden who is 10 months old. Kai is in Mrs. Chu's class at Maureen Joy Charter School. I have been in this field for almost 10 years and it has been very rewarding from the professional development opportunities to the direct experiences working with young children, parents and teachers who have a passion for the field of education. I'm a New York native but have lived in North Carolina for the last 9 years. I most recently accepted a position at Alamance Community College as a Center Director & Education Professor. I am especially passionate about Early Childhood Education because I have had the privilege of being a mother to three children as well as operating as a teacher, director, consultant and a contributor in this field. It is my hope that I may leave an impactful footprint in Early Childhood that would not only inspire others but continue to be a vessel to the world to spread the importance of the early years of a young child's life and the education that they will experience thereafter.

I am running for the President of the Maureen Joy Charter School Parent Teacher Organization. I am the ideal candidate for this position because I thrive on big picture and understand the importance of providing a service that would benefit both the school and families that are a part of our community. I enjoy finding new innovative ways to educate parents as well as the community on joining a collaborative network to support our children future and success. My motto has always been "each one, teach one" and it is my belief that if opportunities are given to our children that there will be limitless success and inspiration.